Queen, the Heavenly Board of Directors says,

“When you ask us a question, we will ask you why.”

You must be honest about your why.

If your why does not align with Heaven's heart, ie:

- what heaven is concerned about
- if it's not God-minded and driven
- if it doesn't embody the heart and attitude of Christ
- if it doesn't strengthen the Holy Spirit's message and assignment for your life, then the answer is no.

However, If your why answers the concern of heaven, if your why is purpose and identity-driven, if it is selfless and noble, and if your why speaks to the message and assignment that is on your life, then the answer is yes.

What about time? God's timing is everything.
If the answer is yes, when do I follow suit?

The time will depend on the level of urgency from heaven. You will have a “yes” that means NOW and a “yes” that says, not at this moment. The “now yes” will be because of what you are encountering and/or soon to be encountering. This “now yes” focuses on your current assignment.

The “yes, but not right now” is even more important because the Holy Spirit is working on the perfect plan and strategy for you and your faith in Him. Queen, your ability to “wait” is imperative for your next moment of elevation and advancement in the Kingdom.
